

GREGORY SAUE, SWS

Watercolor Artist

grlesaue@yahoo.com

Artist Biography

As a painter, I began with oils in my early teens. I won a regional juried art show when fifteen, which encouraged me to pursue art. At Dartmouth College, I was a pre-medical religion major, but had a minor concentration in studio art. I won the Paul R. Sample Award for painting in 1968. I didn't produce much art while in medical school or post doctoral training. When I came to Spokane, I was the first board certified rheumatologist in the city, but now I am retired from practice.

Stan Miller started instructing me in watercolor in the 1980's and I did nothing else for almost 30 years. I was represented by 29th Avenue Artworks and Art at Work during the 90's. I entered work in Art on the Green and won their best painting award in 1997. In 2000, I won the Spokane Watercolor Society annual juried show. I resumed working in oils in 2015. I now do both media concurrently.

Artist Statement

Water has always held a special fascination for me. In recent years, most of my production has been either portraits or waterfalls. A waterfall is like a visual haiku.

Waterfalls contrast
Permanent with fleeting

Rock and water
Forever changing sameness

"Midtown Spokane" Watercolor, 28.5"W x 8"H

"Trondheim 3" Watercolor, 24"W x 18"H